

ABOUT AZIMUTH

Azimuth Communications Inc. specializes in the latest high-end entertainment solutions and whole home systems integration. Azimuth can transform your home into a wonder of ease, comfort and enjoyment.

Tualatin Oregon based Azimuth Communications Inc. is locally owned and operated. Azimuth began their business venture in 1999 with a focus to provide infrastructure supporting private competitive broadband exchange companies in residential markets. In year 2000, Azimuth was brought into the home by regional authoritative builders practicing in Oregon and National markets.

The Azimuth senior team brought together from the beginning is still to this day intact and are utilizing their 85 combined years of telecommunications and networking experience supporting these same builders and many others for their own needs and the needs of their customers.

Over the years entertainment systems were a natural evolution to the Azimuth business plan now supporting 30 full time employees and currently under contract with most major production and custom builders in the Northwest residential market.

Azimuth brings to bear a combination of tools and experience unrivaled in the area and it's all to assist you in making your home or corporate office a more pleasurable place in which to live and work. If you have ambitious plans for distributed audio and/or video, a custom-designed and installed home theater or a corporate boardroom/presentation facility, Azimuth has a solution for your consideration.

At Azimuth, we take pride in producing creative solutions that complement overall design. While some will want their systems 'up front' with big sounds, big speakers, and all the equipment on display, we are aware that others like to keep things low-key, with all the electronics, speakers and ancillary hardware discreetly hidden from view. Azimuth enjoys tasks from the simplest concealing of cables, right through to the design, manufacture and installation of custom brackets, cabinets and stands. Azimuth offers complimentary lighting, audio and video controls that are simple and affordable.

Our team of professionals have the experience, imagination and the tools necessary to design and establish specifications for any size job. The Azimuth team is fully up to date on the latest in technology and most importantly how this technology can properly be integrated and scaled over time into your home or office for maximum benefit.

Today's best control systems are marvels of convenience and versatility. However, to get them to deliver all the convenience of which they're capable and to "keep it simple" often requires extensive programming. Our expert programmers can work with you to make certain your remote controls, touch pads and the like conform exactly to your particular requirements.

Azimuth is no stranger with modern, postmodern construction techniques and codes. If you prefer, Azimuth can add most any of today's conveniences into your current home even if the walls are already up.

From convenient scheduling of a simple in-wall speaker installation to precise coordination with a construction company on wiring a new high-rise, we understand the vital nature of correct timing and compliance.

Azimuth leads with UStec's award winning structured wiring systems that are the most advanced on the market. Homeowners can plug all of their information, entertainment, and security devices into one multifunctional outlet if desired.

The UStec infrastructure offers maximum flexibility, which means it won't tie homeowners to prescribed hardware and software solutions, and can accommodate devices from virtually any manufacturer.

Emergence of the Internet and broadband access has had vast implications for the providers of telecom services, cable TV, DSS, consumer electronics, life safety and personal computers. Despite the rapid pace of change, Azimuth Communications Inc. and UStec have continued to lead the structured wiring market successfully, with innovative products that meet the evolving needs of consumers.

Additionally, Azimuth offers competitive pricing and installation of many top brand-name consumer electronics. Big names like LG, Fujitsu, Panasonic, Pioneer, Samsung, Mitsubishi, Infocus and Toshiba plus enthusiasts' brands such as Denon, Yamaha and many more.

Our highly trained installation technicians bring a wealth of experience to every job. Most important, they take great personal pride in doing the best job possible.

Azimuth performs in a community environment and does not fit the mold of today's transaction based philosophy meaning sell and move on. Every deal is personal and every opportunity great or small will be handled with care and respect as repeat business and referrals are the foundation to the company's sales and marketing success. Azimuth customers most often become partners and friends.

Azimuth is committed to higher standards of ethics, insurance, education and experience. These are qualities that give you peace of mind when providing the finest in custom electronic design and installation. Your home or business deserves nothing less, whether you are considering a high-end home theater, multi-room audio, home automation, home networking, or any of the wonderful possibilities found in today's "connected home."
